Design Impact team would like to inform you that in response to the COVID crisis, we have recently launched Design Impact: Ideathon- an open platform to ideate and collaborate on futuristic products and design solutions that will address the evolving needs during and post COVID-19.
As Design Impact Awards received a wide reception within the student community, we are looking forward to engaging further with them for the Ideathon too. As a programme, we believe that the current generation of youth in India is motivated to solve large societal challenges, and a platform like the Design Impact: Ideathon will provide them this opportunity.
